We must sometimes eat our words, unless we had rather fight than eat.

In our opinion the luckiest lion hunter is the one who doesn't find any.

No skin remedy has ever been found effective in a case of itching palm.

American friction will survive so long as circulation statements are made.

"Cling to your youth," is Elinor Glyn's advice to girls. Sound, but entirely superfluous.

An Iowa man did not speak to his wife for a year, but possibly she gave him no opportunity.

Nearly every home contains a Bible and a mail order catalogue, but they are not read with equal avidity.

A Pittsburgh man bet he would kiss the first girl he should come to. It took half an hour for him to come to.

Roosevelt wrote "The Winning of the West." Wayne B. Wheeler appears ambitious to write "The Winning of the Wets."

Judge Anthony Johnson, of Dunkirk, N. Y., turned George Goucher, aged 48, over his knee and spanked him for making unkind remarks about the court and police.

An apiarist declares that humming bees are worth their weight in gold; but we had rather have our trousers pockets full of gold.

Judge Kavanaugh, of Chicago, declared some time ago that there were 118,000 murderers at large, and so far no one has demanded a recount.

The staff of a Washington State College paper, called the "Yellow Jacket," were suspended because its stinging penetrated the skins of the faculty.

Eating hard-boiled eggs, plus anger, sets up poisoning in the system similar to that of foodstuffs, according to Irl Hilton Jones, noted chemist. Eggs should be eaten only when in a cheerful mood.

With an extremely delicate instrument, a French scientist claims to have measured the dimensions of the human soul. It is understood that he found some of them quite diminutive.

Delayed for fifty years because each had relatives to support, the wedding of Albert T. Gardner and Miss Leona Gibbs took place recently in Philadelphia.

Sam Marshall, of Albany, Ga., was accidentally locked in a big refrigerator and had to jump up and down all night to keep from freezing to death.

According to a press dispatch, a number of New Castle, Del., citizens have purchased caskets on the installment plan and will "use them as chests" until they are needed for permanent occupancy. The owners would hardly refer to them as hope chests.

Nature-fakirs have flourished from time immemorial, but few have surpassed the author of a book on birds, published in London in 1703, who solemnly declared that birds migrated to the moon during winter, returning in the spring. He estimated that the trip took sixty days.

Despite the cynics, the still small voice of conscience is occasionally heard. The manager of a store in Steubenville, O., has received a $2 bill from a man who wrote: "I stole a duck from your stand some years ago, but have since been converted."

Governor Friend W. Richardson, of California, is also an editor and has faith in publicity, which he reaffirmed in a speech before a Los Angeles advertising club, saying: "I am a believer in advertising. My name has become as famous as anyone's in this State. It has even become as famous as some of our well-known colic remedies."

Owen D. Young, co-author of the Dawes plan, is a keen observer of men and affairs, as a recent utterance of his will indicate: "When unadjusted gears come into conflict, one set gets stripped; when man-made laws conflict with those of nature and science, there is not the slightest doubt which will strip the others."

THE TIPPING CUSTOM.

While many attempts have been made to eradicate the practice, even by the passage of laws, the tipping habit persists, through lack of courage on the part of the public.

Mississippi some few years since enacted a law prohibiting tipping. The law, like the injunction, "Stop!" before every railroad crossing, became obsolete, as far as its observance, and in self-defense for respect for the law, the Legislature abolished it. It is no more unlawful to tip in Mississippi, and so far, no remedy for a debasing custom has been proposed. The individual receiving a tip certainly, in a measure, lacks self-respect, and he who tenders the gratuity has no more excuse for so doing, and so seldom is justified in reciprocal sense for service, that he falls into such attitude that is anything but friendly.

Originally, no doubt, the custom of giving tips to servants was inspired by kindly motives, but it has long since become a species of petty graft. Many employers of low-class help pay miserably small wages, with the knowledge that tips from customers will supply the deficiency. Employees accept the small wage with the same understanding. Consequently the public pays in the aggregate vast sums for which no service whatever is rendered.

The effect of the tipping system is wholly bad, as those who accept the gratuities must lose somewhat in self respect, while those who pay them do so simply because it is expected and they do not wish to appear stingy.

One restaurant noticed recently displayed a sign which read: "We pay our waiters living wages and do not permit them to accept tips." That sign inevitably caused patrons to hold a higher opinion of the proprietor and his waiters.

MUSCLE SHOALS DELAY.

It now appears certain that no action toward the final disposition of Muscle Shoals will be taken before Congress adjourns, so that this long-standing question must remain unsettled for another indefinite period. Committee after committee has been appointed to study and report on various bids for the property, yet no committee has ever been able to reach a unanimous agreement nor has any majority recommendation so far been able to command sufficient support to carry it through both houses of Congress.

The influences exerted by conflicting interests and the mixing of politics with what ought to be a simple business proposition has created a situation which can only be viewed with utter disgust.

If any further proof were needed to convince the public of the importance of Congress to handle business on a large scale, its record with respect to Muscle Shoals should amply supply that proof.

Yet there are some who would have the government engage in various other water power development enterprises, with money supplied by the taxpayers, and involving the creation of innumerable additional political jobs.

A GREAT SCIENTIFIC BUSINESS.

In commenting on the subject of fire insurance, C. L. Tyner, president of the Home Insurance Company, said:

"Probably fire insurance is the most complicated and scientific of all American business. Its science is grounded upon principles, some of which have stood the test of more than two centuries. It is a business which learns by experience, and that experience is sometimes costly. So much of fire insurance practice is the result of evolution, that it is by necessity a cumbersome business, but great influences are constantly at work to simplify its operations."

"It is not a business in which organization can be built up overnight. A mistake can be very costly. That there are so few mistakes speaks volumes for the fine types of men and women there are in the organization. It is an unselfish business in which many work for the benefit of all."

JOKE FROM THE RECORD.

There have been many newspaper thrusts at the well known and voluminous Congressional Record. We have ridiculed the wordy effusions of senators and representatives, who extend their remarks in print for the home consumption of their constituents. We often laugh at them, but less frequently laugh with them. Occasionally, however, there appears in the Record some real wit and humor, if the reader will dig it out from the mass of uninteresting matter. An instance is noted in a recent entry by Congressman Carter, of Oklahoma, in a discussion of farm relief bills.

Replying to the suggestion that the farmer should borrow money from the banks to carry over his surplus, Mr. Carter said: "I imagine that will remind the already debt-ridden farmer of the young man who was seeking the hand of a girl in marriage, and when he popped the question to her she replied: 'You must go to father.' The disconsolate young man then recited the following rhyme: 'She knew that I knew that her father was dead; She knew that I knew what a life he had led; She knew that I knew what she meant when she said, 'Go to father!'"

"Administration takes steps to assure construction of high toll bridge, with veto of other measures threatened."—T-P.

All of which reminds us of a conversation that took place on the east bank of Pearl River, where John and his friend Bill were fishing.

As is the rule with good Waltonians, neither had spoken for a long time, when Bill looked up with a grimace, his nose turned westward. "John," drawled Bill, "must be something dead over in Honey Island, smells powerful like it might be some person who died out there; don't you all smell it, John?"

"Bill," answered John, "I'll say it don't take a powerful nose to smell what's coming this way and I'll agree it do stink something fierce. No, it ain't nothin' what died out there, Bill; that there stink is a comin' from a mighty long ways, as I just happen to know; ya-as, all the way from Baton Rouge."

"How come from Baton Rouge, John?" queried Bill. "Well, old timer, I'll tell you all," vouchsafed John. "You know, Bill, if you got a stink hand an' want to get the full benefit of it, all you got to do is stir it up a bit, eh? Well, that's just what's goin' on up there, them politicians over on t' other side the Pearl air stirrin' somethin' awful just now, an' the pot is bubblin' over into other states an' makin' folks think 'bout gettin' a bit of ginger to settle their stomachs."

"Excuse me, John," interrupted Bill. "Did you say a Highwayman's Commission?" "No, Bill; I didn't say it that way, but we'll let her stand put, for I reckon it's 'bout the same anyhow; it's run account the highway and there ain't no women on it."

"Might be a darn side better if they had some women on it," interposed Bill. "You know women, as a rule, rather lean towards cologne water 'stead of stinks. But go on, John, I'm wantin' to hear it all."

"Well, Bill, it's all politics, just plain politics, an' what politics stand for. The people elect the politicians, who swindle by everthin' from Pole to Pole they'll spend their lives in the interest of the people (ill elected) an' then work by strict orders from the ward bosses, for who are the people, anyhow, ain't nothin' compared to folks what know how to run a government."

"Anyhow," continued John, "the way it's run over in Loosyaner is got all the other states grinnin'. The Spanish Trail's what got the pot stirred up, Bill; here us folks in Mississipp dig down and meet the U. S. fifty-fifty for free bridges, we all cover East Pearl an' ready to go, but our neighbors on t' other side lag on the job on purpose 'cause they ain't got no money in it for 'em with free bridges, then they hit on a plan to make them tax payers build a five million an' a half toll bridge (somebody already got fifty thous for a survey) cross the big lake."

"Too high toned to take anything free, eh, John?" "No, Bill, them politicians ain't, but they don't want them people to get nothin' free if they can keep 'em from it. This Highway bill, I said that it was impossible to build under the five millions, and the folks was goin' to stand for it till long comes the biggest engineer in the U. S., a Mr. Fowler, who says that he'd take a contract to build two bridges for a million an' a half. That started the damn trodden people, Bill, an' now they got the pot stirred up, strong as you smell it."

"Well," said Bill, "the people are stronger, anyhow, John."

"What's the matter with the Governor, John, can't he say something?"

"Said too dern much already, Bill; he don't like nothin' free, neither."

ABOUT WOMEN.

Mrs. Edward Leadbeater, of Alexandria, Va., found a rare stamp among some old documents and sold it to a Baltimore collector for $8,000.

Mrs. Mary E. Durand is still an active telegraph operator in Cleveland, at the age of 74, having served for 56 years. Four years ago she was offered retirement with a pension, but refused.

Mrs. F. W. Wolcott, of Hamilton, Ont., is the founder and president of the Ladies' Carry-On League, of Canada, an organization devoted to the welfare of sick and disabled veterans.

Mrs. Louisa M. Cross, of Fitchburg, Mass., who was married at the age of 15, is now 36 and the mother of 20 children, all living.

Mrs. Clara Senecal, aged 60, has been appointed sheriff of Clinton county, New York, by Governor Al. Smith, to succeed her late husband. A son will be her chief deputy.

Mrs. Mollie Long, of Cincinnati, is an expert player on the mouth organ at the age of 78, having played it since childhood.

Miss Mildred Bruce, of the Florida College for Women, has been elected president of the Southern Inter-collegiate Association.

Reports from Cairo state that Miss Ethelwyn Porcane killed eighteen elephants while on a hunt in the African jungle.

Miss Augusta Koerich, of Berlin, shot and killed an unidentified man who was discovered peeping into her bedroom.

RUPTURE EXPERT HERE

F. H. Seeley, of Chicago and Philadelphia, the noted expert, will personally be at the Avalee Hotel, and will remain in Biloxi this Tuesday only, June 15. Mr. Seeley says:

"The Spermatic Shield will not only retain any case of rupture perfectly, but contracts the opening in 10 days on the average case. Being a vast advancement over former methods—employing instantaneous effects immediately appreciable and without any strain or position, no matter the size or location. Large or difficult cases, or incisional ruptures following operations, specially solicited. This instrument received the only award in England and Spain, producing results without surgery. Relapsing, medical treatments or prescriptions."

CAUTION—All cases should be cautioned against the use of any straitjacket or web truss with understraps, as same rest where the lump is and not where the opening is, producing complications, necessitating surgical operations. Mr. Seeley has documents from the United States Government, Washington, D. C., for inspection. He will be glad to demonstrate without charge or fee if desired. Business demands prevent stopping at any other place in this section.

AMENDMENT TO CHARTER OF EDWARDS BROS., OF BAY ST. LOUIS, MISSISSIPPI.

Be it remembered, That on the 3rd day of April, A. D. 1926, at a special meeting of the stockholders of Edwards Bros., of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, held at its office in the City of Bay St. Louis, Miss., prior to which meeting notice of same, together with a copy of the proposed amendment, had been duly mailed to each and all of its stockholders, at which meeting a majority of the stock was present and represented, a resolution was unanimously adopted amending its charter, as follows:

Be it Resolved, That the Charter of Edwards Bros., of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, be and is hereby amended so as to change the amount of its capital stock from $10,000 to $50,000.

And Be it Resolved, That at line 4 of said Charter, on page one, the capital stock be changed so as to read in place of "The amount of capital stock ten thousand dollars," that it be made to read as follows: "The amount of capital stock, $50,000."

We, Geo. H. Edwards, President, and L. J. Norman, Secretary, of the Edwards Bros., hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the resolution amending its charter, and that the same was adopted at a meeting of its stockholders, held at its office in the City of Bay St. Louis, Miss., on the 3rd day of April, A. D. 1926, as appears on the minute book of said company.

GEO. H. EDWARDS, President,
 L. J. NORMAN, Secretary.

Personally appeared before me, the undersigned authority in and for the aforesaid county and State, Geo. H. Edwards, President, and L. J. Norman, Secretary, who signed and executed the above and foregoing amendments of its Charter of Incorporation, and they further recited that the amendment was adopted in the manner prescribed by the by-laws of said corporation on this 3rd day of April, A. D. 1926.

Given under my hand and official seal this 3rd day of April, A. D. 1926.

L. A. GEX, Notary Public.

PETITION FOR PARDON.

State of Mississippi, County of Hancock.

To the Governor of the State of Mississippi: We, the undersigned, respectfully petition you to pardon Harry Luc, convicted of burglary.

We ask you a pardon for the following reasons:

That the said Harry Luc was convicted of taking mostly some clothes.

That he has a family and badly in need of him to take care of them.

That in our opinion he has been sufficiently punished.

That we believe that having been punished as he has been that he will lead a better life and make a good citizen.

Respectfully submitted: C. J. Carrio and others.

City

BAY ST. LOUIS, THE CITY OF OPPORTUNITY

By A. Palmer, (Dixie) Lott, of Bay St. Louis, Miss.
"Way Down South."

The city of Bay St. Louis, Waveland and vicinity with a population of 4,000, is located on both the shores of the Gulf of Mexico and the Bay of St. Louis and the "Jordan River," running on the immediate outskirts, all forming a peninsula. Bay St. Louis is the capital and metropolis of Hancock county, Mississippi, only one hour and twenty minutes time by rail from the great city of New Orleans, on the L. & N. railroad. There are 20 passenger trains daily. The famous Old Spanish trail transcontinental highway passes through the gates of this city. The body of water of the Bay of St. Louis has an approximate width of two miles, with a total shore line of some 15 miles.

The city of Bay St. Louis occupies a place in the scheme of the great movement that is destined to make it one of the gems of the Coast city transformations. Her inviting Gulf and Bay, with extensive water front; her location with reference to growing New Orleans and Coast traffic, and her unpopulated lands that stretch inland for the homeseeker and developer, afford glowing opportunities.

You will find this beautiful city thoroughly modern in every respect. First class hotels; modern courtyards; excellent schools; fine churches of all denominations; municipal waterworks; excellent lighting system; the finest, pure, fresh artesian, soft water; public schools and the St. Stanislaus College for boys and St. Joseph Academy for girls. A new central school all for an expenditure approaching $100,000. There is a Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club and a live weekly newspaper, The Sea Coast Echo.

The L. & N. R. R. with its connections, operates through steel trains from Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Louisville, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Jacksonville and intermediate territory to New Orleans. On these trains are carried through sleeping cars and dining cars. The schedules are fast and convenient for your comfort. During the winter, round trip tourist tickets are sold to Gulf Coast resorts. They carry extremely liberal limits and stop-over privileges.

Bay of Saint Louis was discovered in 1699 by Iberville, the French explorer. The discovery being made on the birthday of King Louis IX of France, the body of water was named Bay of Saint Louis, in honor of his sovereign. Prior to the coming of Iberville, the Indians had a village here, known as "Chou-cou-pou-lou," meaning "bad grass." "Rockcaws" is the common name for this grass today. Early history relates that Andrew Jackson arrived in this city, and later went to New Orleans, where he defeated the British forces under Fackham. Jackson's nephew afterwards built a home on the beach near here and it is still known as the Jackson House. Among other notables who visited here was Zachary Taylor, who spoke while campaigning for the presidency.

Bay St. Louis is rich in historical interest, romantic in its legends of old French Indian and Colonial days, and colored with the stories of piratical adventure. It is the first resort of any consequence eastward from New Orleans and can truthfully be called the ultra-fashionable suburb of that city. While Bay St. Louis offers such an ideal place for seekers of recreation, rest, fun and frolic, Hancock county offers wonderful opportunities for the homeseeker, desiring to farm either on a small or large scale.

This city is an ideal winter and summer playground. Beautiful beaches, surf bathing, boating and fishing are here for you. An 18-hole golf course is to be completed this fall. Water, woodland and breezes have combined to lure people to this pleasant city. It all lends a romantic subtle charm that captivates every visitor.

Bay St. Louis and Waveland, with beautiful homes, fine bathing beaches, shaded lawns and flowers, long paved and shell drives upon the water front; the magnificent live oaks and stately magnolias, with the many pines extending over the waters of the Gulf and Bay, affords winter and summer visitors excellent facilities for spending the months in comfort and pleasure. The Coast being moderate and the abundance of fish providing rare sport for the pleasure days, while the climate and the pure salt breezes are delightful. The nearness to New Orleans makes it The Bay-Waveland Yacht Club has a convenient for shopping, theatres, etc. large membership, club house and many sailing and motor boats. The spectacular annual regatta takes place early in July.

The new Hotel Weston ranks with the best on the entire Coast. It is now open for guests and will accommodate one hundred persons. There are numerous smaller and exclusive places where good accommodations may be had in hotels or private families, or cottages can be procured where the pleasure of the seaside are as attractive and accessible as at the larger and more prominent places. During the summer the city is filled to overflowing with week-end parties, and in winter the city is filled with tourists from the North, who come to enjoy the salubrious semi-tropical climate.

There are eight major projects in and around this city, now under construction or to be under way in the immediate future, which will all tend to place this city in an unprecedented strategic situation. The combined major development are now being made and will continue to have a decided influence on values as pertains to beach, city and farm properties. There is every indication that prices will advance materially this year.

With the completion of the bridge over Pearl River in July, a link in the Old Spanish Trail, will thereby shorten any travel to New Orleans, making possible the distance in three hours.

The proposed Weston-Williams bridge over Lake Pearl River will, in other link in the Old Spanish Trail, will further shorten the distance from Bay St. Louis to New Orleans, about 100 miles, to about 75 miles. The completion of this project will make it possible to travel from Bay St. Louis to New Orleans in three hours.

The State of Mississippi has a 32 per cent crop increase this year. This information was furnished by the United States department of agriculture and is based on the report of the post ten years, showing that Mississippi leads them all.

In Bay St. Louis and Hancock county the soil is ideally adapted to the growing of pecans, berries, citrus fruits and truck crops, all of which grow prolifically and have proven highly profitable to those engaged in the raising. Vegetables are grown commercially in the winter and spring.

A 15 1/2 acre estate on the beach and in the heart of Bay St. Louis, made a profit of $1,000.00. Station orange trees, one year old, yielded a net profit of $325.00 per acre. Pecan trees, ten years old, a net profit of $500.00 per acre. Cabbage returned net $200.00 per acre, and carrots $900.00. These illustrations are sufficient to disclose the wide scope of diversification and the return the intelligent farmer in such lines may expect. The important crops of the States as a whole are hay, corn, cotton and corn, with cotton predominant.

Much less than half of the State's tillable land is under cultivation, and a much smaller percentage than this of Hancock county land is now in cultivation. The lands not in use are as fertile and as well adapted to crop growing as the lands in cultivation. They will produce an equal variety of crops, in the same volume and of the same value, and these uncultivated lands are probably the "cheapest agricultural lands in the United States."

This climate is mild enough to permit of several crops on the same land during the four seasons. With the exception of Georgia and Texas, Mississippi had, in 1920, a greater number of farms than any other State in the United States, although thirty of these have a larger area than this one. The predominance of the small farmer is a most desirable feature of agriculture in Mississippi. The average number of acres per farm is 66.9, the lowest per farm acreage of any State. This demonstrates the fact that the soil and favorable crop conditions here require a smaller land area per person than any other State. They also demonstrate the certainty of the State's ultimate agricultural pre-eminence.

The northern tiller of the soil who builds a home on the Mississippi Gulf Coast finds that the acre or two around the house will provide enough fruits and vegetables for many families and soon sends the surplus to the markets, thus getting back into the growing of food for the nation.

The lands of Mississippi produce $1.35 for each dollar invested, while Iowa, the State of most cultivated land, yielded only 15 cents per dollar invested, according to A. B. McCandless, United States statistician for Mississippi. The average value of the crops of Mississippi was $200,000,000; the Iowa average was twice the amount, the average crop value per cultivated acre in Iowa was $24.20. In Mississippi it was $32.40; the acre crop value of the entire United States was $23.57.

The average value per plowed acre of Iowa lands is $195.00; in Mississippi it is only $24.00. This great land of promise offers incomparable opportunities in agriculture, industry and playground developments.

The slogan today is "Go South and share in its awakening." The fruit of this will be success to happiness. The South today, and particularly Mississippi, is the last section of the United States where possibilities are yet open to those without a great deal of capital. Mississippi is the only State left in which farm lands may be purchased at a price that enables the purchaser to pay for the land with the first year crop.

Would you spend a different winter holiday, in the balmy indolence of the real old South, away from commercialism and the conventional "maddening throng?" Would you enjoy the fruits of true Southern hospitality? Would you give your nerves and mind a treat to that serene, calming Southern leisureliness which most of us need? Slip down to beautiful Bay St. Louis and Waveland, on the Mississippi Gulf Coast. It's close enough. If you know the Coast, you won't have to be urged; if you've never been here, you'll wonder why no one ever brought this charming bit of America to your attention before. It's the ideal place if you may enjoy only short interludes from business during the winter months, bring the family down and commute, so to speak. They will enjoy the hotels. It isn't their palatial construction, magnificence or ostentatious elegance, but it's rather that rare attribute of making you feel genuinely, as though you were at home. The food is that unique combination of Creole and Southern cuisine, fresh shrimp, Creole fried chicken, Southern style, candied yams not corn pone cooked to a turn, and scores of other tempting dishes.

Whatever your favorite winter sport, you can play it on the Mississippi Gulf Coast. Good tennis courts, miles of hard motor roads at the very edge of the Gulf and Bay, if you desire, and the Gulf an endless expanse of sparkling white sand, all within a few minutes' ride from the city. The beach is a fine, white sand, stretching far south to meet a tropic sky; fishing boats, yachts and other pleasure crafts dotting the blue waters, the white sand alive with bathers, and a real Angler's paradise, where a giant Spanish mackerel, redfish, sheepshead, speckled trout, sea bass, amber jack or tarpon. Paths and smooth roads run back from the Gulf and Bay onto the woods, where they turn the noblest and most beautiful of the Coast's winter homes, where they turn the noblest and most beautiful of the Coast's winter homes.

It is one of the seven cities by the sea; it seems some of the others have forged ahead faster than this bay city, whose streets are built around the oaks and magnolias in order to make it more picturesque. The Farmer Can't Stand Much More Help Like He Has Been Getting Congress say they are helping the Farmer. They are in Washington ON salary. He is home trying to pay it. Farmers have had more advice and less relief than a wayward son. If advice sold for 10c a column, Farmers would be richer than Bootleggers. And when they get all through advising, there is just one thing will help the Farmers. That is eliminate some of the middlemen and let the two ends meet. The Consumer and the Producer are two men in America that have never even seen each other. Cut out the middle, and tie the two ends together.

When a steer starts from the feed pen to the table, there is about 10 to take a bite out of him, before he reaches the family that pay for him.

Who wears the best clothes or drives the best car, the fellow who raises a bushel of wheat, or the working fellow who goes up to buy a sack of flour? Why neither one of them. The ones in between these two have their private Tailor and "Straight Eight's."

The Government just told Agriculture, "You are in a hole." They didn't offer to pull them out, but they did say, "We will get down in there with you."

I want to tell you right here, I don't know what would have happened to the poor farmer if it had not been for his old friend, "Bull" Durham. It's the only thing he has been absolutely able to rely on. And I want him to know that myself and "Bull" Durham are with him right to the poor house door.

There Rogers, P.S. There will be another piece here a few weeks from now. Look for it.

"ACROSS THE BAY."
(From "Way Down South.")

A dozen miles to the west of Gulfport and then just across the Bay of St. Louis is the charming historical city of Bay St. Louis, so named by Iberville way back in sixteen ninety-nine.

While it is one of the seven cities by the sea, it seems some of the others have forged ahead faster than this bay city, whose streets are built around the oaks and magnolias in order to make it more picturesque.

The building of the new bridge across the Bay of St. Louis by the governments of Hancock and Harrison counties will close the only gap in the Old Spanish Trail in the State of Mississippi.

GUM-DIPPING

the Extra Process for Extra Miles! Breaks all Tire Records

The 500 Mile Speed Classic at Indianapolis has always been a Battle of Tires. In 1911, Firestone won with fabric tires at 74.59 miles per hour. In 1920, Firestone won with cord tires at 88.55 miles per hour. In 1925, Firestone won with Full-Size Gum-Dipped Balloons at the record breaking average speed of 101.13 miles per hour.

In 1926, Firestone again won with Full-Size Gum-Dipped Balloons. The ten cars to finish "in the money" were all Firestone-equipped. They went the distance without a single blowout and with but two tire failures—one due to a puncture and the other to a leaky valve.

This performance is even more remarkable when you consider the terrific speeds at which the cars traveled over this fifteen-year-old, rough track.

Experienced race drivers will not risk their lives or chances of victory on any other tires. And in the commercial field, large truck, motorbus and taxicab fleet operators, who keep careful cost records are among the big users of Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires.

The City Transportation Co. of Tacoma, Wash., writes: "One of our 12 buses on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires has gone over 20,000 miles and still looks good for many miles of extra service. For all around tire safety and mileage, Firestone cannot be beat."

From Calumet Motor Coach Co., Hammond, Ind., the following: "We operate 40 buses all equipped with Gum-Dipped Tires. The very low cost per mile on which these tires operate is considerably less than that of any other make." Hayes Bus Lines, Columbia, S. C., writes: "We operate 19 buses equipped with Firestone, Gum-Dipped Tires. A number of these tires have run over 45,000 miles without ever having been removed from the rim."

The largest taxicab companies in the world standardize on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. W. R. Rothwell, taxicab operator, Detroit, Mich., writes: "Two of my Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires have run 76,000 miles."

Hundreds of thousands of car owners voluntarily testify to the safety, comfort and economy of Full-Size Gum-Dipped Balloons. W. H. Peacock, Birmingham, Ala., testifies: "I have had Firestone Balloons for thirteen months and they have delivered in that time 24,468 miles." H. C. Stachle, Minneapolis, Minn., says: "My Firestone Balloons have gone 49,900 miles and are still in good condition."

These records of endurance, speed, safety and mileage could only have been made because of Firestone development of the Gum-Dipping process which insulates and secures every fiber of every cord with rubber, reducing friction and heat and building greater strength and endurance in the cords—assuring you at all times—

B-W. Y. C. DANCE THIS EVENING. The first of the weekly Saturday night dances at the Bay-Waveland Yacht club house will take place this Saturday evening, with a band of eight pieces in attendance. This will be the initial appearance of the band and expectations are great. Anticipation keyed to a high pitch. It is expected there will be a large attendance, every attempt made to make the first of the season's Saturday night hops, well attended and popular and delightful. Members and their guests will enjoy the evening.

CARD OF THANKS. I wish, through the columns of The Sea Coast Echo, to tender my most grateful thanks to Mr. Victor Luc and Jackie Strong, who, through heroic efforts, saved from drowning my granddaughter, Grace Taylor, and her friends, who were bathing with her at the time, Miss Nellie Wallis, Abbie Chapel, Orville Walters. Also thanks to the attending physician, Dr. Alvah P. Smith, who attended each of the party.

Gratefully, MRS. AUGUST BERNARD, June 7, 1928.

READ THE TRUTH ABOUT KILLING INSECT PESTS

WHY pay a big price for an insecticide or buy expensive spraying apparatus when you can get a generous size of Bee Brand Insect Powder—sufficient to rid your home of insects, or to prevent insects invading it for a long time to come. Bee Brand Insect Powder is not only a most effective insecticide, but it is also the least expensive.

Bee Brand Won't Explode. You can use Bee Brand Insect Powder anywhere, near an open fire or flame of any sort, without danger. It will not explode nor is it easily inflammable. An insecticide that is explosive, or highly inflammable is a menace—a fire risk.

What of the Plants? Dare you apply your present insecticide to plants? If you wish to remove insects from plants or flowers, or if you wish to use Bee Brand in a room where plants and flowers are, have no fear. It will not harm them. Bee Brand is non-poisonous. Dust it or sprinkle it on your pets and domestic animals. It will not harm them. Eat it if you wish—it will not hurt you.

How Much Apparatus? None is necessary. If you prefer to use the little puffer gun, the cost is only 10c. Blow Bee Brand Insect Powder from a piece of paper. It floats in the air and its fine particles kill Flies, Mosquitoes, and Moths. Dust it in cracks and crevices, or about the furniture. It kills Roaches, Water Bugs, Fleas, Lice and Bedbugs.

Settle It Once and for All. You know what kind of soap serves you best. Modern sanitation has made insect powder as necessary as soap. If you have never used Bee Brand, you have not yet found the most effective and least expensive insecticide. Order it by name and insist on getting it.

Bee Brand Insect Powder. In red, white, top caps at your grocer's or drugstore's. Household sizes 10c and 25c. Other sizes 50c and $1.00.

If your dealer cannot supply you, send us 25c for large household size. Give address and ask for our free booklet, "Bee Brand" a guide for killing House and Garden Insects.

Mrs. John Carreles, born Martina Tudury, died at her home in New Orleans this week, aged 62 years, survived by six children. Mrs. Carreles was no stranger in Bay St. Louis, a first cousin to Peter Tudury, of the Hancock County Bank, and other relatives. The deceased was also a sister of Ralph Tudury well-known attaché of a music-house in New Orleans.

Capt. Ernest W. Drackett, of the ferry "Cecil N. Bean," has had a siege of minor mishaps to his excellent system of transportation "across the Bay," but again all things are righted and the good old ship "Bean" with its cheery skipper is again running on the dot, with no chance of recurrence of the what-nots that have happened. Bad news spreads like the proverbial wildfire, and this is published with a view that the thousands of readers of The Echo, mostly ferry patrons from time to time, will read this for their information and for the public good.

The Echo is in receipt of a copy of The Sea Sprite, annual publication of St. Joseph Academy, Bay St. Louis, published by the High School department. The publication is handsomely and cleverly gotten up and filled with illustrations and excellent literary effort, pertaining to the class and school. It will compare most favorably with many of the annuals issued by larger and more pretentious institutions, although St. Joseph's of Bay St. Louis is a long and well established school and affiliated. The graduates this year are Miss Bessie Barton, of Houston, Texas; Misses Alice Blaise, of Bay St. Louis; Misses Olive Logan, of New Orleans; Miss Kitty O'Leary, of New Orleans; Miss Mary Scalfie, Bay St. Louis.

CHARMING AND ACCURATE STORY.

A. Palmer Lott, local realtor, has written a most charming and accurate story of Bay St. Louis, which is reproduced elsewhere in the columns of The Sea Coast Echo, in order it may be given wider circulation. He has asked the acknowledgment be made to The Echo for much of his data, for he says he garnered much of his material from files of this paper. He tells a good story, sticking closely to facts, and in good sequence.

Mr. Lott comes to Bay St. Louis to live, and has entered the real estate business, coming here from Gulfport and originally from Crystal Springs, Miss., and is a blood relative of Senator Pat Harrison. The Who's Who of Mr. Lott follows:

Born, raised Crystal Springs, Miss. Twelve years fruit brokerage, California. Lieutenant U. S. Marines, World War. Championships of State, Pacific Coast and America in basketball. Contestant numerous tournaments, numerous sports in the west and south. Member several clubs west and south, including Colonial Country Club, New Orleans, and Jackson (Miss.) Country Club. Past national chairman American Legion athletic commission. Promoted and staged Legion Olympic games in San Francisco, 1923. Attended University of California. Member Phi Kappa Tau fraternity. 1924-1925, maintained brokerage offices in Louisiana and Mississippi. Past six months in real estate, with headquarters in Gulfport. Extensive travel for 12 years on North American continent.

Bay St. Louis was the scene of much activity last Sunday, when about one thousand employees and their friends of the New Orleans Service Company came out for the day and visited Bay St. Louis, making the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club building their headquarters, with St. Stanislaus College also operating by giving the use of their spacious front lawn, under the shade of spreading trees, and also the use of wharf and bathing pavilion. The Bay-Waveland Yacht Club was instrumental in getting the visitors to Bay St. Louis and "made good" their invitation by giving the use of its premises plus every service and courtesy possible, with Secretary E. J. Dubuc unremitting in his attention and energy. Commodore E. J. Lacoste and other officers assisted. It was also noted many owners of automobiles placed their cars at the disposal of visitors and through the day many were entertained in this wise. Employees of other corporations are to follow at an early date.

Miss Daisy Bordages is connected with the real estate office of A. Palmer Lott, who has entered the local field and is located at 118 North Front street. Miss Bordages, who assisted her father, the late P. C. Bordages, Sr., county assessor, is acquainted with practically every piece of land in the city and county, and her knowledge in this, coupled with her office ability, and attractive personality, will assist materially in the success of Mr. Lott's business. In Mr. Lott's absence, Miss Bordages will represent him. Planning a most extensive advertising campaign, there is no doubt much business to the firm and benefit to both city and county will result.

Four young ladies had a most narrow escape from drowning Saturday evening in front of Bay St. Louis, near the B-W Yacht Club, and were rescued by Victor Luc and Jackie Strong, who saved the party from death with true heroic effort. The young ladies were Miss Nellie Wallis, Miss Grace Taylor, Abbie Chappel and Oraie Walters. The party were guests of Mrs. August Bernard, residing in Balentine street, and were visiting her granddaughter, Miss Grace Taylor, all of New Orleans. Dr. Alvah P. Smith was summoned and after much effort resuscitated the young ladies, after which they were taken to Mrs. Bernard's home.

Vacuum means nothing, and it reminds us of a certain bottle that keeps liquids cold or hot for 24 to 36 hours. The pint size is $1.00. Atlas Drug Store.

Mr. Fred Ansley reached the Coast from Chicago, where he spent the past seven years, and was a welcome visitor to Bay St. Louis during the week, visiting the friends of his former home town. Mr. Ansley has become associated with the "Brierfield," the big land development project, located near Biloxi, and which will be one of the high-class subdivisions of this section, backed by Chicago capital. Mr. Ansley is very enthusiastic and there is every reason to believe "Brierfield" is going to be one of the outstanding and permanent improvements of this Coast section.

Mrs. George E. Pitcher, Jr., returned home during the week from Cincinnati, Ohio, to which city she was recently called by the serious illness of her sister, in religion known as Mother Regina, who was suddenly stricken ill and for who all hopes had been despaired of for a while. However, it is a pleasure to state the patient rallied and is on the high way to recovery, and her recovery is only a matter of time. Mother Regina was at the local convalescent home quite a while and is well known locally, and the news of her recovery will be learned with satisfaction.

CIRCLE WORKERS ELECT OFFICERS.

Catholic Neighborhood Circle No. 1 Active—Present Rev. A. Gmelch. Purse of $25.00 in Silver on Occasion of His Twenty-Fifth Anniversary as Priest.

The guest of honor was Rev. Father Gmelch, who was given twenty-five silver dollars in remembrance of his silver jubilee in the priesthood, by the active and associate members of the Circle.

Result of the election was as follows:

Mrs. R. Sellier, president, succeeding Mrs. Geo. Boh, who in turn was made honorary president.

Mrs. R. M. Blaise, secretary treasurer, succeeding Mrs. H. C. Glover.

The financial statement, as submitted by Mrs. Glover, proved the year ending June 9 has been the most prosperous.

Five hundred little hearts were gladdened by the earnest work of the Circle, which succeeded in raising $229.76 for the community Christmas tree. The toys were distributed at the College Gym, on the night of December 23, 1925.

Donations of $100 to Rev. Father Gmelch for educational purposes; also $25 to St. Joseph's Academy for the same purpose.

Orphan and families were assisted by giving groceries, warm clothing, wood and cash donations.

Receipts from dues and other sources, from July 8, 1925, to June 9, 1926, $490.74.

Disbursements from check book, July 10, 1925, to June 9, 1926, $472. Balance on hand, $18.12.

The membership of the Circle is not numerous, but whatever it may lack in number it makes up amply in force and result. The Circle works unremittingly, and no cause for good fails to receive recognition. Its outstanding work is for charity, church, educational and civic cause, a most appealing combination. The purse of the Circle is not large, but the purse strings are ever ready at the call. In speaking collectively of the Circle, The Echo also wishes to note that every member individually has worked indefatigably and with telling results as a unit, well believing there is strength in union. We salute the newly elected officers, congratulate them and wish them well for their new year of work.

T. F. Monti, Jr., son and only child of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Monti, residing in Hancock street, aged about 11 years, came near meeting his death a few evenings ago. The little fellow was "swimming" off the head of Booker street vicinity when he was overcome by deep water and fatigue and lost his balance. He was rescued by Miss Edith Ladner, daughter of Mrs. Nina Ladner, who carried his prostrate form from where she rescued him to a skiff. He had fainted and was revived later.

CHILD FOUND.

The lost child, Nettie May, daughter of Jesse Wilkinson, whose disappearance is reported on the first page of The Echo, was found this afternoon, late, under her father's house. A report, which could not be confirmed before going to press, stated the child was doped. However, she is back home again.
